ESC Software Ranks As A Top 100 VAR

Named By Editor of Accounting Technology Magazine

Press Release

Tempe, AZ—May 25, 2006—ESC Software announced today that it has been named by Accounting Technology Magazine as one of its Top 100 VAR's for 2005. This annual list names the top 100 accounting software resellers in the country according to revenues reported to the magazine.

"We are proud to be included in this successful group of business management software resellers," said Alan Hardy, president of ESC Software. "This designation is recognition of the quality of our team and of our commitment to delivering exceptional business software and services to our clients."

Alan attributed this year's success to the company's strong relationship with Sage Software, his team of professional consultants, and creative financing options the company offers to its customers.

The list is based on 2005 reported revenue results and was published during the second quarter of 2006. A full copy of the Accounting Technology article can be viewed online, to view click here.
